

Winter's Dream

Lyrics by Felicia Farerre

Walking along the river's edge
Winter kissing her breath
She held the summer warm and bright
Deep within her chest

She wandered far into her dreams
Shown by light of the moon
Carried on winds of make believe
Safely to cocoon

There she discovered worlds unknown
Colors never seen
Not one soul was suffering
Only love was shown

Snow gently falling on her lace
Whispered words of sage
She heard the song of middle earth
Tears rolled down her face

Ah

Ah

To her surprise, the song's lament
Was the call of her soul

Taking her back to river's edge
From whence she had roamed

As she awoke, she saw a light
Slowly drawing nigh
Presence, a gift from winter's dream
An angel by her side

Ah
Ah

He said, "You're home and ever were"
With a smile in his eye
In swirl of hues most beautiful
He blessed her pain to die

Walking along the river's edge
Winter kissing her breath
She held the summer warm and bright
Forever in her chest

A Fairy Heart

Lyrics by Felicia Farerre

Born of sky on an autumn breeze
Cradled by twilight's arms

Wrapped in love found in earthen touch
Blessed with a fairy heart

Ah

Bathed by rain in a flower's hand
Dried by the warmth of sun
Dressed in silk, ribbon finely spun
Fed by the blood of plum

Never knowing the plight of war
Only the gift of breath
Flying freely in fields of gold
Until her wings met rest

Ah

Faet Water
Maet Waghon
Haret Daega
Way et thorn
Funa uton
Way et Waghon
Haret Dagga
Way et thorn

She lives on in a lullaby
Sung by the voice of wind
Hear her calling, and trust the song
Echoing deep within

Ah
Ah

Embers and Ash

Lyrics by Felicia Farerre

Midwinter's eve
Stillness and peace
All is calm, all is bright
Candleflame and hearts alight

Distant bells ring
Echo and sing
Songs of hope in sweet refrain
Softening the sting of pain
For a moment, put away

Embers and ash
Rose colored glass
Weep not for the days which have passed
Spare the present, don't look back

Light on a hill
Bringing goodwill
With the dawning of the sun

Natures blessed wishes come
All things new have now begun

*M*etamorphosis

Lyrics by Felicia Farerre

Butterfly
As you flutter by
I'm amazed with wonder
How you died

All has changed
In your tiny frame
Yet your loving nature
Still remains

Look at this
Metamorphosis
Through the lens of mystery
That it is

You and I
We are butterflies
Dying as we need to
For new life

Trust the why
There's a time to die
It's a new beginning
Time to fly

Luna's Lullaby

Lyrics by Felicia Farerre

Once in a blue lullaby
I heard the voice of the moonlight Singing her soul to the sea

Her song was strangely familiar to me

I felt the tears in her words
Flooding my heart and the whole universe

Waves are rolling in
Here they come again
Feel the ebb and flow
Holding, letting go
Like the ocean's tide
We all fall and rise
Singing to the night
Luna's lullaby

Pain is an empty goodbye
Looking for rest in the cradle of time

Sing your sad song to the sea
And let it sail away to memories

Waves are rolling in
Here they come again
Feel the ebb and flow
Holding, letting go
Like the ocean's tide
We all fall and rise
Singing to the night
Luna's lullaby

The Crystal World

Lyrics by Felicia Farerre

Shimmering light in the distance ahead
Across the water where presence meets breath
You are the warmth felt within Aine's fire
Ancient and always, you keep love alive

I recognize you from dreams I have dreamt
I know you by heart, how could I forget?
Held by a vision, a wish, and a prayer
From clay to crystal world, we're finally there